++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry with bright or sunny spells.

Today:
Morning mist and fog patches will clear to leave a fine day for much of the region with plenty of hazy sunshine. Some low cloud affecting the far west at times. Mild for the time of year with light winds. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry at first, but clouding over from the west through the evening, with patchy drizzle developing during the early hours. A mild night, with a brisk southerly breeze. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Monday:
A cloudy, damp start to Monday, with more persistent outbreaks of rain spreading across Cornwall and Devon through the morning, with the wet weather affecting all parts in the afternoon. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Unsettled over the next few days with spells of rain or heavy showers interspersed by some drier, brighter interludes. Often windy, with a risk of gales later on Wednesday.
